Another weird legislative act of the administration has gone glimmering when subjected to the test of the courts. The amend ment to the Lever set permitting price fixing has been duclared unconstitutional by a St. Louis jurist who sustained a demurrer to the charge against a firm of jobbers that they were selling sugar at a higher price than what was fixed to the food administration This decision will not help the consumer and the blame for the ruling must be placed at the door of the administration which proceeded to exercise an unlawful control of food products without being furtified by an adequate law. While the decision is against the consumer and there earmed he any sympathy for the accused, the lesson will carry dismay to those who helpers in duing things without any warrant in law. This is a severe blow to the autocratic away of the bureaucratic order in Washington which has carried on business without any regard for the rights of individunis and with a shallow pretones of assisting the consumer through making cheap capital out of a distressing situation, No No No No No No No No
